Popular Young Couple to Wed.

Announcement has been made of a wedding which will take place during the holidays which, on account of the popularity of the groom, is of more than usual interest to the citizens of Marietta. The contracting parties are Willie Munzeshimer of this city and Miss Beulah Miller of Galveston, Texas. Mr. Munzeshimer is a member of the firm of S. Westheimer & company of this city, and is one of the best known and most popular young men in the entire state. He is one of the pioneer traveling salesmen of Oklahoma and has "grown up" with the new state.

Miss Miller is one of the most popular young ladies in the city of Galveston and is a noble Christian lady who devotes her time, talent and means to church and charity work and the uplift of humanity.

Billy has been "heart whole and fancy free" for so long that his Marietta friends had almost given up hopes of him ever becoming a benedict, but rejoice to know that such an estimable lady as Miss Miller will be his life partner.—Marietta Monitor.

Howell-Draughton.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom P. Howell Jr. left on the 4:15 train yesterday afternoon to spend their honeymoon at the Panama exposition at San Francisco and touring the Pacific coast.

Until a short time before train time Mrs. Howell was Miss Clara Draughton. They were married at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. H. C. Draughton, at 3:30 o'clock, Rev. R. S. Satterfield, pastor of the Methodist church at Pauls Valley, saying the words which united their destinies for life. The wedding was a simple home affair, aside from near relatives in Davis the only witnesses being Mrs. Jas. Fox and Miss Annie Dameron of Pauls, Mr. Shauman of Wynnewood, and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bolling of Hoover.

The bride, Miss Clara Draughton, is one of Davis' most charming and accomplished young ladies. She grew to womanhood here and is a popular member of the social set and the Sonoma club. She is a cultured singer and musician and the past three years has taught music at Pauls Valley, where she had fine success. The groom is a son of Dr. T. P. Howell, bank president, cattleman and farmer. He is a steady, upright young man of exemplary habits and has been very successful in managing his farm and cattle interests.

When the happy couple return from their honeymoon trip they expect to reside at their country home west of Davis. The best wishes of a host of friends accompany them on their western trip, and the wish is universally expressed that their trip on the sea of life may be as pleasant and happy as their fondest dreams could wish it.—Davis News.

Government Lands Free.

Uncle Sam has recently made available for homestead entry what is officially known as the fourth unit of the Belle Fourche irrigation project in South Dakota. From time to time for the past several years, small areas have been opened to the public in this section and already there is formed a splendid agricultural community as a nucleus for the development of the entire project which will require several months to complete. The present opening is therefore generally regarded as offering an excellent opportunity for the man who wishes to exercise his homestead right and still obtain a desirable and productive tract of land within a few miles of towns where there are modern advantages, such as schools, churches, stores, telephone service, and good markets.

The crop returns on the Belle Fourche project have been very good and an encouraging feature of the trend of its development is the increase in stock and the tendency to engage in hogs. Agricultural experts have long pointed out the advantages of this project for hog raising and dairying. With recognized markets for merchantable products and the facilities for producing alfalfa of a fine quality, the settlers seem to have heeded this advice and their splendid results are now serving as an impetus for further progress along these lines. Persons who appreciate the desirability of engaging in alfalfa culture, hogs and dairying, can find nowhere in the west a section which will offer better facilities for specializing along these lines of endeavor.

The government announces that the land itself is free and can be obtained only under the homestead law. Provision is made by the reclamation service for supplying water at actual cost to each settler and after twenty years' time he is given outright a permanent water right.

That the better lands embraced within the public domain are rapidly diminishing seems evident from a statement made relative to this and other districts by Albert V. Leonard, settlement agent of the U. S. reclamation service at Chicago, who adds that "the Belle Fourche project should attract a desirable element who realize the necessity of securing land as an economic permanency."

LASSEN VOLCANO NOW SAFE

California Peak Has Spent Most of Its Energy, Investigators Say.

Washington, Aug. 11.—Lassen volcano, California, spent most of its energy in its violent eruptions of last May, according to reports received by the forest service, and it is believed there is little likelihood of further destructive outbreaks. Since the upheavals of May 20 and 22, the volcano has been under the observation of officers of the Lassen national forest, in which the peak stands, and for the last month a volcanologist of the U. S. Geological Survey has been making a scientific study of the mountain.

The investigations have confirmed the opinion that the eruption of two months ago, when a river of mud was blown out of the north side of the crater and down Hat creek with considerable damage to government and private property, was caused by the melting of the snow on the peak, the snow water running into the crater and, being converted by the molten lava into steam. Although it is possible that the volcano is simply conserving its energy for another outbreak, the indications are, according to the government volcanologist on the ground, that no further eruptions are likely to occur, at least until next spring, when another influx of snow water may cause a slight disturbance.

The first authentic report of the damage done by the eruptions of last May shows that early reports were greatly exaggerated. Forest rangers who have made a careful survey of the neighborhood of the volcano and have made several ascents to the rim of the crater, report that the total extent of government land rendered useless by mud and lava is somewhat less than 4,000 acres, and that of the privately owned land rendered useless less than 1,000 acres, comprising all told the grazing range of about 220 cattle. In addition, by reason of temporary injury to other areas, range has had to be provided for about 800 cattle which were grazed near the mountain. Inasmuch as some 12,000 cattle and 50,000 sheep are grazed on the Lassen forest every year, this curtailment of the range, according to the forest service, is almost negligible.

The forest officers on the ground estimate that the timber destroyed by the eruption amounted to about ten million board feet. Photographs taken by one of the rangers who was detailed to make observations, show trees several feet in diameter and 150 feet tall, lying on the mountain-side, where they were snapped off like toothpicks. A boulder as big as a freight car is among the debris that was carried for several miles down the mountain by the mud flow.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 10.—With three men under arrest here today, detectives for the Wells Fargo Express company claim to have uncovered a system of thefts through which the company has been robbed of merchandise totaling nearly $200,000 within the last twelve years.

The prisoners are Frank Wilson,
